

Aboriginal Youth Navigator

The purpose of the Aboriginal Youth Navigator program is to enhance service provision, provide advocacy, and ensure they are aware of services available to them once they age out of Ministry care, decrease youth in care, and improve accountability through a youth-centered approach that focuses on meeting the needs of youth.

The Aboriginal Outreach Youth Navigator will provide support and guidance to Aboriginal youth involved with the Ministry, youth transition planning, youth on probation, youth agreements, aging out and/or in government care. Youth can also voluntarily seek services for other advocacy support.

The Navigator acts as the “Navigator” for youth to assist them to understand and access the multitude of youth support services that may be available to them.
